

ZACKS INDEX SERVICES DEVELOPS ZACKS GLOBAL AUTONOMOUS VEHICLE INDEX

The first index targets at Global Automation Driving Universe

Chicago, IL- Aug 29, 2017- Zacks Index Services is pleased to announce the development of Zacks Global Autonomous Vehicle Index. This innovative index offers strategic exposure to companies who are actively involved in R&D, manufacturing, and supporting self-driving cars.

Three sub sectors are included into this index, Auto Parts Producers, Manufacturers, and Technology.

1. Auto Parts Producers: Companies that engaged in research, developing and producing parts for autonomous vehicles.
2. Manufacturers: Car manufacturers that are involved in investing, research, testing and manufacturing self-driving cars.
3. Technology: Firms that actively engaged in providing necessary support such as high-precision map, autonomy, safety and intelligence assistance.

The Zacks Global Autonomous Vehicle Index employs proprietary selection rules to identify constituents that contribute to or generate revenue from autonomous vehicle industry. The Index includes publicly listed and liquid securities trading in both U.S. and global exchanges. The Index, which is comprised of 60 constituents, is reconstituted once a year.
